GRADUATE STUDIES

GradPathways enhances the graduate student learning experience and provides preparation for a broad array of career paths.

For the past 6 years, Campus Recreation and Unions has generously provided funding to support of graduate student professional development programming.

These funds have been used to reserve campus venues for programs.

GRADPATHWAYS PARTNERSHIPS

GradPathways' cross-campus partnerships ensure that students receive information from the content experts from a variety of campus units.

In 2017-18, GradPathways and its partners provided over 250 programs to over 9,000 graduate students*.

Of this number, 2,000 students participating in the GradPathways and Professors for the Future programs directly benefitted from reservations for 65 events made with CRU/ATM funding.
