Virtual Programming During a Pandemic

SPRING 2020 Overview

CCC Spring 2020

Virtual Edition

DUE TO THE LOCAL AND STATE ORDER, THE CCC IS CLOSED. STAFF ARE ACCESSIBLE VIA ONLINE SERVICES FROM 10AM - 4PM. BELOW IS OUR NEW WEEKLY CALENDAR OF EVENTS AND ACTIVITIES.

MOVIE MONDAYS

Each Monday we will collectively watch a movie. Grab your snacks and live chat with us while we watch. Links will be provided.

TEACHING TUESDAYS

Tuesdays we teach. Check out our social media, listserv, and other e-platforms to learn something new! A dance, a concept, a new skill.

WELLNESS WEDNESDAYS

On Wednesday we'll explore mental health and general wellness topics and chat with the therapist or SHCS staff member of the week!

TOGETHER THURSDAYS

Every Thursday we do our Community Engagement Zooms. Each community will have a specific time to check in with our team and friends of the CCC.

FUN FRIDAYS

Fridays are for the socials, e-games, chats, dance parties, and more!

CCC FALL SPEAKER SERIES

Wednesdays | 1:00 PM - 2:30 PM | RSVP: <https://linktr.ee/CCCUCD>

Visions of the Future: Writing the World We Want to Live In with Alán Peláez López on October 21

This writing workshop centers radical imagination. What makes you feel safe? What are the systems of oppression we must abolish for you to always be safe? How can we unlearn discipline and power? This creative writing workshop centers feminist speculative writers from the Black and Asian diasporas.

Liberation is for Everybody: Embracing your Story and Igniting your Purpose with Melissa Muganzo on October 28

Student activism and advocacy are the crux of higher education. From cultural spaces to historical court wins, to making global policies more equitable, college students have always led the change. This collaborative virtual workshop will help celebrate the legacy of student identities while activating career goals and professional dreams. Melissa Muganzo Murphy will activate student voices and empower them to move forward in their power and self-liberation. Come learn how to embrace your story and ignite your purpose.

Pleasure Noir: Decolonizing Joy and Pleasure with Thea Monyéé on November 4

Pleasure Noir focuses on decolonizing pleasure in Black Bodies and other marginalized persons. Embracing a blend of decolonized psychotherapy, body awareness and afro-spirituality. Pleasure Noir creates an immersive and interactive learning experience for those who are interested in increasing pleasure to transform the inner and outer world.

An Afternoon with Ariana Brown with Ariana Brown on November 18

Ariana Brown is a queer Black Mexican American poet from the Southside of San Antonio, TX. She is the author of 'Sana Sana,' a poetry chapbook with @gameoverbooks, and is a 2014 national collegiate poetry slam champion. Ariana's work investigates queer Black personhood in Mexican American spaces, spirituality, and healing. Find her poems + rants on IG & Twitter @arianathepoet.

Black, Jewish & Queer: Navigating Judaism with Multiple Identities & Building Bridges with Sandra Lawson on December 2

Sandra Lawson sees her multiple identities as an asset and uses her identities as a bridge builder. Her 21st century rabbinate takes her from nursing homes, to cafes, to the world of social media where she uses the aspects of her identity to connect with others.
