- Open Mic Nights
  Partnership with campus’ Sacramento Area Youth Speaks (SAYS)
What Students are Saying...

Quarterly Open Mic Nights:
- “So great to open the Mondavi to a student open mic poetry event. Bravo!”
- “Really great place for expression. Keep doing it!”
- “Great variety of acts and skill level! Very accepting environment for new people. DJ Char was Great! LOVED IT!”
- “Amazing; Keep it Comin”

Quarterly Study Sessions:
- In survey, student reports that the event made them feel supported by the campus community and the MC with that collaboration.
- Many of the word of mouth participants, especially 2+ hours into the event, were meeting up with friends who were already studying inside and had told them about the event.
What faculty are saying...

Curriculum Connections, which provides $5 student tickets when a Mondavi Center event is assigned in a UC Davis course:

- The Curriculum Connections program has enlivened my syllabi, enlightened myself and my students, and invigorated the learning process for all of us as a community. I’m grateful for it!

- As I’m sitting and reading the concert reviews of students, I am once again reminded of the positive impact that the Curriculum Connections program has on UC Davis students. For so many of them, the concert they attend is the first time that they have been exposed to a live jazz or symphony performance, or venues like Jackson Hall at the Mondavi Center. I think it opens their minds to a new experiential realm.

- The Curriculum Connections program has at times perfectly complemented my course syllabi and provided my students with interesting and exciting opportunities to experience course content beyond the realm of the classroom. It lives up to its name by facilitating a more expansive university experience for students and faculty, all seamlessly meeting at the intersection of the UC Davis classroom and the Mondavi Center.
